They design it. They build it. They live it.

Katie and Chuck are the nation's experts on cohousing and have either designed/developed or consulted on over fifty cohousing communities. They introduced cohousing to North America with their book (in its second edition): Creating Cohousing: Building Sustainable Communities. Chuck also authored The Senior Cohousing Handbook: A Community Approach to Independent Living, an invaluable resource for aging-in-community.

This workshop shares best practices and lessons learned throughout their 25 years experience, while also recognizing that each community is unique and each group needs to decide what approach makes the most sense for its specific location and situation. More cohousing communities have been started by this Getting-It-Built Workshop than by any other method in North America. With this workshop, you will get it built!
